

Case Study | Furniture Retailer Canvassing

Neighborhood Bark

The Background

A furniture company with locations in multiple states has worked with Bird Dog Digital Marketing on an ongoing basis. After building a relationship through consistent campaign success, they trusted Bird Dog to run a campaign with a recently launched product, Neighborhood Bark. With it, the client was able to target the neighbors within view of recent buyers and deliver them digital ads.

The Challenge

The client wanted to boost sales across both their furniture and mattress offerings. Our new technology needed to be used to cost effectively acquire more customers with a high propensity to buy the advertised products.

Bird Dog's Approach

The furniture retailer implemented the campaign in two states, using recent clients and new movers as the basis of the segment. Bird Dog's Neighborhood Bark appended IP addresses to neighbors' homes, creating a geographically relevant segment. By appending IP addresses to individual locations, Bird Dog was able to focus on priority targets within a specified radius at a one-to-one level. Focusing on consumers that have a high chance of seeing delivery trucks or the new product itself greatly increases their chance to purchase.

Performance

- 24% increase in approved loans from our targets
- incremental $200,000
- 758% Return on Ad Spend
