

Case Study | Telesales Recruitment

Venue Retriever

The Background

A growing telesales company that had recently moved offices and needed help with workforce recruitment. Equipped with Bird Dog's technology, they were able to develop a cutting-edge recruitment strategy for the telesales client.

The Challenge

The client was experiencing explosive growth and was having trouble finding qualified candidates to fill the available positions. Previous campaigns launched with other companies and technology options were able to generate 80-100 applicants, but most did not have the required experience to contribute immediately. Bird Dog's partner needed to find a way to acquire promising applicants at a greater quantity than ever before.

Bird Dog's Approach

Meeting demand was achieved with Bird Dog's Venue Retriever. Our partner geoframed two nearby competing businesses, capturing the device IDs of their employees. From there, Bird Dog appended those device IDs to their home IP address, delivering digital ads directly to employees' homes and devices over a two-week period. Focusing on competitor's workers was an effective plan: not only did it mean applicants were already qualified, but hiring away employees would also directly improve the client's position over their competitors.

Performance

- 650 new applicants
- 600% increase in applications
